There's No Limit To Salad Ideas

Your salad combinations can be of limitless variety. Take shredded cabbage, for example, one of the basic salad vegetables. You can combine it successfully with shredded carrots and raisins; with grated carrots and crushed pineapple in lime gelain; with orange segments and fround green peppers; with cheddar cheese cubes; with orange and grapefruit sections; with chopped pineapple and diced apples or sliced bananas, with chopped onions and tomato wedges, and many others.

Salad dressings can be great assets, and they, too, are varied and adaptable. Add an appropriate seasoning, juice, or creamed cheese, to your basic dressing-mayonnaise, French or Russian -and you'll add a gourmet's

French dressing goes particularly well with celery seed, garlic, chive, onion, curry, ginger, honey and Blue Cheese. Whipped cream makes a pleasant dressing for a fruit salad. Concentrated fruit juices also are flavorful dressings.

Banana Sauce Uses Wine

There's no cooking at all to make "Creamy Banana Sauce."
White port or muscatel wine, lemon juice, sugar and whipped cream are folded into crushed bananas to make this simple, delicious sauce. Try it on slices of sponge cake, and pour small glasses of the same dessert wine for an accompaniment.
